Are you a parent/carer wanting to help your child?

The UK's biggest hands on careers and skills event, Skills London 2008 is coming to ExCeL London on 20-22 November 2008. If you've got a teenager making decisions about what they want to do in the future, come along and be inspired, motivated and thrilled with over 150 organisations providing interactive features from every major career sector imaginable.

Free to visit, Skills London 2008 is for 14 -19 year olds but everyone can come along. Choosing what to do is never easy, but making career decisions is easier when family, carers, friends and teachers get involved. So everyone is welcome to visit Skills London 2008.

There is a special Saturday opening between 10am - 4pm to help you find out about the range of career opportunities available to your child. This is your chance to talk to employers, colleges and experts about your child's future. Parents, carers and families can also visit Thursday or Friday between 9.30am - 3pm when school groups are booked to attend.

This event is different from the usual careers fair and there will be over 150 interactive stands from household names including Tesco Stores Ltd, Boots, Hilton Group Plc, HSBC Bank Plc, Thomas Cook UK & Ireland, London Fire Brigade and the Metropolitan Police. Many, many more will be there including top training and education providers ready to help with advice and guidance on education, interviews and careers.

You can find out more and book your place at www.skillslondon2008.co.uk or just turn up on the day.

Make it a date, Saturday 22nd November and start looking forward to the future.

It's that time of year that young people are thinking about their futures. mychoicelondon.co.uk is a website that allows Young People to search over 25,000 courses across London and helps them to think about their future, whatever their exam results.
